B. & O. COMMUTERS OPEN NEW FIGHT ON ROUND-TRIP RATES

Petition Filed With I. C. C. Telling of Alleged Discrimination for Points to Rockville.

DIFFERENCE NOTED

In Case of Westmore 34 Cents Is Charged for Traveling Only Two Miles.

By JUDSON C. WELLIVER.

John B. Dalsh and J. Raymond Hoover, as attorneys, today filed with tition to open a new branch of the nght of Washington district commuters against the recent advance of commutation rates on the Metropolitan branch of the Baltimore and Ohio rail-

The present petition deals not with the ethree months' commutation tickets | scurrying into their cellars, left London to withdraw, but with the two-day government took pains to deny the reround-trip rate, which was canceled. In taking out the two-day rate the company substituted a thirty-day round-trip rate, on which the charge was largely increased as to stations beyond Rockville. The present petition asks that the two-day round-trip rate

In the petition filed today, charge is made of discrimination in favor of stations between Washington and Rockwille, and against stations beyond Rockville. The two-day rate has been in existence for many years, affecting all stations from Washington to Washington Junction. Messrs. Daish and Hoover file with their petition a tabblation showing the former and the new rates, designed to bring out the nature and extent of this discrimination.

It is shown, for example, that no change whatever is made in the rate as applying to nineteen stations, from Washington to Rockville, inclusive, The former two-day rate at Forest Glen, fo instance, was 40 cents; it is continued at 40 cents. At Rockville, the two-day rate has long been 65 cents; and it remains at that figure.

But immediately Rockville is passed the two-day round-trip ticket privilege is entirely withdrawn; the patron must buy a thirty-day round-trip ticket, good for return at any time within that period; and the charge for this thirty-day ticket is much higher than for the eld two-day ticket which is discontinued.

Case of Westmore. example, Westmore station is only a mile beyond Rockville. The former rate to Westmore, for the two-day round-trip ticket, was 70 cents. That persuade King Ferdinand that Rounania would imperil her national expense we the thirty-day ticket for which the rate is raised to 99 cents.

In other words, for the round trip at Rockville, seventeen miles, the lowest rate is 65 cents, but for the round trip at Westmore, eighteen miles, the lowest rate is 99 cents. The company handles a Rockville passenger at the rate of thirty-four miles for 65 cents; but a Westmore passenger must pay 34 cents more for a ride two miles only 28 Miles From Suez

What War Moves Mean

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.-The suggestion in this column yesterday that Russia's new advance assinst Thorn probably was due to unexpected dif-ficulties in the southeastern war area seems confirmed today by Petrograd's official admission that Austrian troops are concentrating in Bukowina. A fortnight ago Petrograd declared Bukowina had been cleared of the enemy and was in full Russian possession. Since then the Austriana apparently have partly recovered their offensive, and once more the Slave are meeting with a rebuff at the moment when their hopes had been raised by Petrograd's optimism. been raised by Petrograd's optimism. There is no indication of the part of Bukowina which has repassed into the military occupancy of the Austrians, but probably the Russian line of communication through the central or northern districts of Bukowina, forms the Austrian objective. It would accord with the previous recklessness of Slav strategy if the Russian communications, through Bukowina were left open to a fiank attack. The Russians seem to have for a re-entry of the Austrians into Bukowina is the direct result of Russia's great desire to drag Rumania into the war. After conquering the Kirlibada Pass leading from Bukowina into Transylvania, the Russians this week did not start on the straight road to Budapest, but moved further south into Bukowina and selzed other passes, to make more impressive their control of the Transylvania gateways.

In doing this it is probable that the Slav flank further north in Bukowina was yeakened, and the Austrians were able to effect an entrance into the crown land through badly defended passes. The appearance of Austrian troops in Bukowina at the present moment is extremely disconcerting to Russia's efforts to gain Rumanian support. Frince von Hohenlobe-Schillingturst, Austrian ambassador at Berlin, and a brilliant diplomatist, has just arrived at Bucharest to try to persuade Rumania to keep out of the war. His arguments will be much emphasised by the new military attuation in Bukowina.

If the Russians are compelled to withdraw altogether from Transylvania to protect their hold on Bukowina, Rumania's participation in the war probably will again become very uncertain. The Rumanian states war probably will again become very uncertain. The Rumanian statesmen will take no chances if the result of the war appears to them likely to become a draw. Reports of a German aerial bombardment of Dunkirk and other French coast cities across the narrow channel increased the feeling of nervousness here. These reports, coming by way of Paris, declared that a group of German aviators dropped nearly 100 bombs on the French coast towns, killing seven persons and injuring at least a score.

The report of the air raid on Dunkirk was not officially confirmed here. Paris dispatches said the news was given out officially there, but at least one government official here suggested that the report may have emanated from the the report may have emanated from the same condition of fright that was re-sponsible for last night's wild rumors. sponsible for last night's wild rumors. A careful inquiry at various coast points today absolutely failed to substantiate the rumors that a Zeppelin raider has passed over Cromer and proceeded south in the direction of Isondon. The chief of police at Cromer ridiculed the story that the whirring of the airship's propellers awakened half the town, and said he was positive the report was untrue.

St cents more for a ride two miles longer.

The same general evidence of discrimination is shown by comparison of all the rates beyond Rockville with all those this side of Rockville. Thus at Germantown the lowest round trip rate formerly was $1.05; it is raised to $1.45; yet at Rockville and points nearer no advance at all is made.

These discriminations are charged with violation of the act to regulate commerce, and the commission is asked to issue orders for the restoration of the former schedules.

all Senate amendments, which is the routine procedure.

The debate on the half-and-half principle and the necessity for a commission to investigate the existing arrangement overshadowed the routine action of the House. After Congressman Ben Johnson had opposed the acceptance of the Senate amendment striking out his provision for the utilisation of all District revenues before a call is made upon the Federal Treasury to contribute anything to the District's upkeep. Majority Leader Underwood took the floor.

OR STOMACH PAIN IN FIVE MINUTES

"It is clearly the sentiment of this House that the Federal Government should bear a proportion of the expenses of the District. But no one except the committees in charge of these bills seems to have any idea as to what is the fair proportion. I know that I do not know what is just, and I have been here a great many years.

"I have never seen a proposition come from any of these committees which clearly demonstrated what is a fair and equitable distribution of expenses. Why should we not have a commission? We had one forty years ago. We should have one now to ascertain the facts from top to bottom and lay before this House all the facts regarding this controversy. It seems it will never be settled otherwise."

Congressman Page said there had never been any serious effort to get a commission in the House. The attitude of the Senate, he suggested, was indicated by an adverse vote or: just such a proposition.

"If members of the House would study the reports made from time to time regarding this matter they would not be entirely ignorant of the situation," said Mr. Page. "Information on this subject has been put into the Record from time "Pape's Diapepsin" makes sick, sour, gassy stom-- achs feel fine.

would have a bearing on the fiscal arrangement."

"That is in the record. The work of a commission which already exists," commented Mr. Page.

"A commission could assemble this information then," replied Mr. Underwood. "It is a waste of time of the House, and it is not fair either to the Federal or District government not to have this question settled. That the Government should bear a certain proportion of the expenses here all must admit. This is the Capital City, and we want to be proud of it. I think the time has come to have an investigation by a commission to settle this controversy once and for all."

Congressman Prouty said he had on the calendar a resolution to name a commission, and he intended to ask consideration of it at this session.
